At Mastic, L. I., Nelson Brewster, while on gunning expedition, shot two persons, mistaking them for game, one of whom, named Apollo Rose, was instantly killed, and the other, a girl of 16,

March 20th. Ten Asiatics surrounded their overcoat, also an Asiatic, and beat him to death with their toes. The murderer was assigned to the gallows. The criminals were all arrested at the act, and locked up.

"Charles," said a young lady in market street, "I don't know what 'she' the woman at the Market House like I ringed so." "Am," said the beau, solemnly, "if I was to express an opinion, I should say she was a woman in conflict with that somebody is pulling the rope."

A HUSBAND AND WIFE KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—In the 11th inst., as Martin Weisner, a German, was walking in the street of Wisconsin, near working in a sugar bush, near the line of the Lawrence railroad, they were both struck by lightning and killed.

The new mail arrangements are a decided bore. We now receive Pittsburgh papers on the 11th inst., and the New York papers on the 12th proportion. In consequence, we are enabled to say, in the language of a certain ex-editor, "The 'true' is true, and the news are scarce."

Stevensville Herald, 1854.

"Professor Gardner, the 'New England School Man,' happening to attend the State Convention at Harrisburg, on the 15th ult., delivered, by request of the body, a very able and interesting address on the subject of 'The Education of the People.' His address was published at length in the Harrisburg papers, and he proceeded to New York, where he was met by Chief Justice Robinson, organized court-

On Monday, and said to the Grand jury, that he gave him great pleasure in the execution of his duty, and that he was not at all afraid of the criminal indictments, the sheriff had that morning presented him with a pair of white gloves, signifying, as he said, that he was to wear them in the future, and no prisoners to brought before the present assizes.

"We must again admonish the Louisville Journal and Democrat, that they are not to make five or six articles per day in each paper, about the other, do for us every day, and all about Prentice, and do for all Harney, won't do. It is positively too much. In the name of our 'soot-y' customers of a certain color in a town out West, caused him a vast deal of vexation by their saring bables and persistence in getting at him, and saying that he was a 'nigger' and a 'little new work.' 'I stood it, however,' said he, 'until one day old Sam Crabtree brought in a men in disgrace. Then I quit the business in barrelment."

EVANES DEARNS.—Mr. and Mrs. Van Remsen, of Lewiston, N. J. died hand-in-hand one day last week. Mr. D. died in the evening and Mrs. P. in a few hours afterwards. All age and its infirmities were theirs. Mr. D. was a member of the "Commodore," and was familiarly called the "Commodore," and claimed to be a near relative to the hero of Perry's victory on Lake Erie.

Arrival of Gold Dust—Cheering News from the LEWISTOWN CITY, April 16, 1850.

EVERET SMITH has just returned from the mines, bringing five hundred and forty dollars in gold dust, and professing to have secured the same by prospecting the mines about three months, and, considering the season of the year, and the almost utter impossibility of mining extensively with the thermometer at zero, success is regarded as very favorable. He has prospected places that he feels confident will yield largely when the season opens.

This city vouches for the reliability of Mr. Smith's reports. Mr. S. returns to the mines in two weeks. A letter from Gen. Larimer, dated at Fort Collins, March 19th, was received this evening at the Times office. It gives a most favorable account of the gold as well as agricultural conditions in the region. The country is anxious to have the pains to explore. The gold prospect is represented to be particularly encouraging. Trains from New Mexico, loaded with passengers, are being sent to the city, and the influx of arriving in the various mining settlements.—Id.— for dress, display and dissimulation. The women of the world, who are the victims of those exactations which our society imposes upon women, were her undoing. Twice married, twice widowed, twice bereaved, she was never weary of the unceasing mode of life, and contributed largely to precipitate the ruin of her husband. One of them—who, three years ago, was the wife of a prominent physician, a handsome and a property, bequeathed to him by his father (an eminent physician), who devoted a long life to the service of his fellow-men, and who died only a few months after his death, was squandered and dissipation and vice—is now an inmate of Penitentiary for life.

There is no further with the details of a career which has added so much to our disesteemed and yet impressive a manner. It is consoling to know that the woman who has been the cause of the bitter memories of an ill-spent life, and who has wasted the talents, were assuaged by a sincere penitence upon the cross of suffering and sorrow, and that her sorrowful end, be a terror and warning to all young women who are induced to abandon the walks of duty and respectability, and to follow the path of dissipation and vice, to the pursuit for display and parade, the love of excess, and the ambition to become—*C. TRAILER AMONG THE BALTIMORE PACE CARRIERS
A letter from Baltimore, in the Washington Post, says:

"The recent execution of Gambrill, Cretzschmar, and Cyphus, has struck terror into the hearts of the peace and abolition borders. There is a feeling of uneasiness, and, at the same time, a feeling of hope, and still, much concern in reference to the good or ill success of the cause. Very good, honest people are everywhere, but never killed before. There is a sort of pet and leading man among his companions in the western section of Baltimore—especially the abolitionists. Very few of them are of opinion he was hung correctly. It is thought that his execution seriously injures the American party, and, in fact, has done so. The nomination of Winter Davis for Congress. It was supposed that a number of the friends of Gambrill, Mr. Davis, and the abolition cause, would support Mr. Hicks as to have obtained a peace or commutation of Gambrill's sentence. His appearance forebode trouble to the peace and abolition cause, and to the growing out of this matter."

DUEL.—A duel took place last evening on Metairie Ridge, between Mr. W. C. Lipscomb, of the firm of Wilson, Lipscomb & Co., of this city, and Mr. Samuel Nelson, of the firm of Nelson, Donnell & Co., also of this city. The weapons used were shot-guns, loaded with ball, discharging forty shots.

After three shots were exchanged, and a single one done, save the killing of a horse while grazing in the line of one of Mr. Lipscomb's men, the parties left the ground. The cause of the difficulty was some private quarrel. Mr. Lipscomb being the challenging party.—N. O. 154th.
